无限极大道 Wuxianji Avenue

The bridge is part of the 68 million infrastructure project that consists of Lee Man Tat Bridge which was opened in 2014, and the Infinitus Bridge which completed construction in 2016. Lee Kum Kee Group has fully funded the construction of both bridges.

Lee Kum Kee and Infinitus water their roots with the opening of Infinitus Bridge connecting millions for years to come.

Lee Kum Kee and Infinitus return home to water its roots with the opening of the Infinitus Bridge. As part of Infinitus's long term commitment to repaying the home that nurtured the family, Mr Lee Man Tat and the Lee family is keen to devote active effort to improving Xinhui's infrastructure. Holding closely to the "Si Li Ji Ren" value, this effort represents the company's positive impact on the city.

Under the applause of Mr Lee Man Tat, Group Chairman of Lee Kum Kee, and his spouse; Mr Sammy Lee, Health Products Group Chairman and Chief Invisible Officer; the Lee Kum Kee management team; and key dignitaries from the government of Xinhui, the Infinitus Bridge was formally opened for traffic on Friday, September 8.

The opening ceremony only triggers the beginning of the project's economic ripple effect. This bridge is an artery that provides much needed relief to the traffic needs of the rapidly growing city, and with this new convenience, new opportunities open up for entrepreneurs. This ripple effect will be felt for years to come with rapid development and growing opportunities in the city and beyond.

Infinitus Initiates Hoffmann Infinitus Program for Greater Insight into Traditional Chinese Medicine

Infinitus takes a giant leap forward in the research and development of health products with the official commencement of the Hoffmann Infinitus Program on September 15, 2017.

This long term program will enable Infinitus to enlist the scientific expertise of Professor Jules A. Hoffmann and his team for research into extracting more benefits from our products and enhancing our understanding of the aging process within the body.

The signing ceremony was hosted at the University of Strasbourg, and Mr. Lam Yu, Senior Vice President of LKK Health Products Group, Managing Director of Infinitus

Global and Vice Chairman and Managing Director of Infinitus (China) Company Ltd. represented Infinitus at the signing table. Key dignitaries from the city of Strasbourg, the Dean of University of Strasbourg, Professor Hoffmann, and the Hoffmann research team were in attendance to witness the signing.

Research will include the benefits of polysaccharides in "Qi" maintenance, improving gastrointestinal immunity and natural anti-aging methods. The results of these researches will be applied to both new and existing Infinitus products.

Beat the Freeze this Winter and Get Your Body to Go the Extra Meter

What was a gentle summer breeze is now a freezing gust. Step through your front door and you will find that winter is ashore. Between the indoor heat and outdoor freeze, your body is going to complain about the changes. How loudly it complains depends on how well your body is protected, not in the form of clothes, but in the form of Qi.

What is Qi and why do you need it?

According to <<Huangdi Neijing>>, the recognized scripture in Traditional Chinese Health Regimen, Qi influences your body's ability to adapt, resist and recover. Your body's immunity is strengthened by the abundance of Qi, and weakened by the lack of it.

Traditional Chinese Health Regimen doctrines prescribe that the lack of Qi, meaning a weakened immunity, pronounces this vulnerability. This is why two persons can go through the same routine every day, but the differences on their body could be stark. Qi makes the difference.

Up your Qi and up your immunity

Boosting your Qi means optimizing your immune system, and your body will be well equipped to deal with seasonal changes. The Qi-up Combo from Infinitus contains two aces – Premium Nutrients for Better Health and Royal Lingzhi Plus – that work in sync to bolster your immune system, helping you stand strong in winter.

Get Qi-up Combo today and rise to the call of winter!

Order before October 31, 2017, and receive a limited edition Infinitus travel pouch! Good while stocks last.
